

AMDA STATE CHAPTER CONTACTS

The American Medical Directors Association (AMDA) is committed to helping states organize chapters. State chapters affiliated with AMDA are separate independent entities. State chapters provide member advocacy and support on a local level. State chapters also drive the national association through the House of Delegates meeting at AMDA's annual symposium. Each year state chapter representatives at the annual symposium are given the opportunity to vote on the policies and direction AMDA will take throughout the years to come. The state chapters help identify what issues are important for AMDA to pursue and what information individual physicians need to perform their important roles as medical directors.

Currently we have 45 groups (not all states have established chapters). For additional state chapter information, go online to www.amda.com/chapters. For information on how to start a state chapter, contact the State Chapter Liaison at 410/992-3114.
